

OET

OCCUPATIONAL ENGLISH TEST

The English language test for healthcare professionals

Information for candidates

What is the Occupational English Test (OET)?

OET is a healthcare-specific English language test. It assesses the language proficiency of healthcare professionals looking to register and practise in an English-speaking environment.

This high-quality test has been designed by world-leading experts in language assessment, and is supported by over 30 years of test development, research and validation.

Is OET the right test for me?

OET tests international health practitioners from the following 12 professions:

Dentistry	Occupational Therapy	Podiatry
Dietetics	Optometry	Radiography
Medicine	Pharmacy	Speech Pathology
Nursing	Physiotherapy	Veterinary Science

If you have chosen one of these professions, OET is the ideal test for you. It is a significant milestone towards your international career development.

Why should I take OET?

- Take the English language test that is designed specifically for healthcare professionals.
- Prove to employers you have the language communication skills to work in an English-speaking healthcare environment.
- Expand your career opportunities in Australia, New Zealand and Singapore.
- It's the most suitable test for healthcare professionals for registration, employment and visa purposes.

As a health professional, I think OET is the best and most useful English test. It has helped me to develop the English language skills that are vital for a career in Medicine.

When and how will I receive my results?

Your results will be published on the website approximately 15 business days after the test: log in to your secure online profile to see them. In addition, an Official Statement of Results will be posted to the current address in your online profile.

How is OET scored?

You will receive a separate grade for each sub-test ranging from A (highest) to E (lowest). There is no overall grade.

Here are the descriptions for each grade that appear on the printed Statement of Results:

OET grade	Description of ability
A	Very high level of performance
B	High level of performance, i.e. able to use English with fluency and accuracy adequate for professional needs
C	Good level of performance; however, not acceptable to a range of health and medical councils
D	Moderate level of performance: requires improvement
E	Low level of performance: requires considerable improvement

What's in the test?

OET covers all four language skills with an emphasis on communication in a healthcare environment. It consists of four sub-tests:

- Listening
- Reading
- Writing
- Speaking.

The Listening and Reading sub-tests are designed to assess your ability to understand spoken and written English, based on health-related topics and tasks common to all professions.

The Writing and Speaking sub-tests are specific to the 12 individual healthcare professions – designed to reflect common tasks performed in the workplace.

The four components of OET

Listening sub-test (approximately 50 minutes)

The Listening sub-test consists of two parts, with 20–28 questions in total:

- Part A: a recorded, simulated professional/patient consultation with note-taking questions.
- Part B: a recorded talk or lecture on a health-related topic with a range of questions including short answer and multiple choice.

The content for this sub-test is the same for all candidates – irrespective of profession.

Reading sub-test (60 minutes)

The Reading sub-test consists of two parts:

- Part A: summary task

Skim and scan three to four short texts (a total of 650 words) on a single health-related topic and complete a summary paragraph by filling in the missing words (a total of 25–35 gaps), in 15 minutes.

Part A is designed to test your ability to accurately process and retrieve written information in a meaningful way, within a time limit.

- Part B: reading comprehension task

Read two passages (600–800 words each) on general health topics and answer 8–10 multiple-choice questions for each text, in 45 minutes.

Part B is designed to assess your ability to read and understand information on health-related topics within a time limit.

The content for this sub-test is the same for all candidates – irrespective of profession.

Writing sub-test (45 minutes)

You will be asked to write a letter – usually a referral letter, based on case notes. In this letter you should:

- record treatment offered to date
- explain the issues to be addressed (based on given instructions)
- show that you have considered the facts and information
- write 180–200 words, set out in an appropriate format.

The content for this sub-test is profession specific.

Speaking sub-test (approximately 20 minutes)

This test assesses your ability to communicate effectively in English. It consists of two simulated consultations between a healthcare professional and a patient. In these role-plays you will take the role of the practitioner and the interviewer plays the patient or patient's relative/carer (or for veterinary science, the animal's owner/carer).

The content for this sub-test is profession specific.
